

Peer Review File

Article information: <https://dx.doi.org/10.21037/mhealth-23-30>

Reviewer A

As a reviewer I would like to congratulate the authors for the good work done and the good way of writing the manuscript where I would like to highlight the graphics used, which are very appropriate in this type of scientific publications.

The authors thank Reviewer A for their thoughtful consideration of our manuscript, and for the kind praise they have shared here.

Reviewer B

This study describes the development of an app to match corner and convenience stores in the Baltimore area with food producers of healthy foods for sale. These stores typically have nutrient-poor offerings because of numerous barriers in the supply chain together with incentive from larger companies to sell their ultra processed foods. The study describes the process of app development in great detail, providing a potential road map for others following in their footsteps. The writing is excellent. Because I am not an app developer or programmer, I can't speak to some of the technical aspects, but I found the manuscript highly interesting, detailed, and worth reading. I recommend accepting it and found little to be concerned about or quibble with.

The authors thank Reviewer B for taking the time to review and understand the premise of our manuscript, and for the thoughtful insight they have shared here.