Reviewer A

This is very well written and I do not have a question to be addressed.

A: Thank you for the comments.

Reviewer B

A thoughtful and well-written editorial, not omitting discussion on the important parts of the article commented upon as well as on the research field in general.

A: Thank you for the comments.

Reviewer C

In this manuscript, the authors provide a summary and commentary of a recently published Meta-Analysis in European Urology that investigated genetic markers of susceptibility to urothelial bladder cancer in patients with European ancestry. The meta-analysis commented on was published very recently and this commentary may effectively inform readers of the most current advances in this field. However, the authors do not provide any original research. Therefore, I would recommend that the Editors only consider this for publication if they aim to publish an Editorial Comment.

A: Thank you for the comments. Yes, this is an invited Editorial Comment.
