

Figure S1 Food consumption across depressive (A) or anxious (B) status. Chi-square test was used to compare the each food intake in different mental states, with * indicating $P < 0.05$. The X-axis was the percentage of people with or without depression/anxiety who eat specific food at least once a week.