

Figure S1 Relationship of pulse wave velocity with age. In TGA patients aortic pulse wave velocity was higher than in controls ($P < 0.001$) and increased significantly with age ($P < 0.001$), in contrast to normal volunteers where for ages up to approximately 30 years.

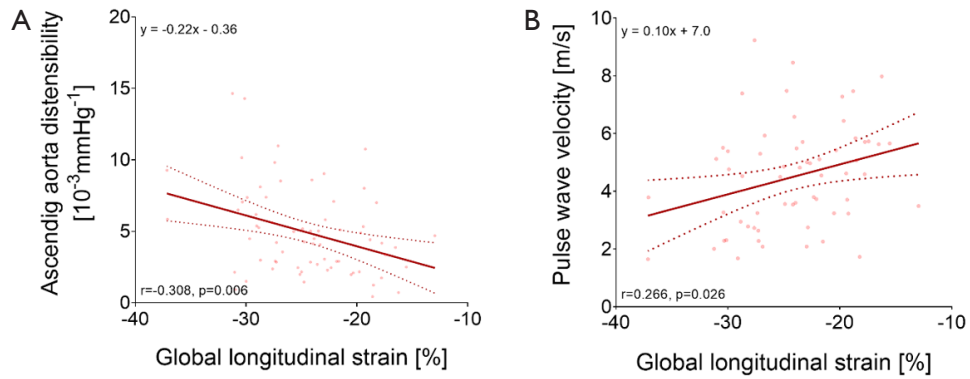

Figure S2 Correlation of aortic distensibility and pulse wave velocity with global longitudinal strain.